

Herzlichen Glückwunsch! Sie haben bestanden!

ZUM BESTEHEN 80 % oder höher

Lernen Sie weiter

BEWERTUNG
100 %

Test your knowledge on data credibility

GESAMTPUNKTZAHL 4

1. Which of the following are usually good data sources? Select all that apply.

1 / 1 Punkten

☒ Vetted public datasets

✓ Richtig

Vetted public datasets, academic papers, and governmental agency data are usually good data sources.

☒ Governmental agency data

✓ Richtig

Vetted public datasets, academic papers, and governmental agency data are usually good data sources.

☒ Academic papers

✓ Richtig

Vetted public datasets, academic papers, and governmental agency data are usually good data sources.

☐ Social media sites

2. To determine if a data source is cited, you should ask which of the following questions? Select all that apply.

1 / 1 Punkten

☒ Who created this dataset?

✓ Richtig

"Is this dataset from a credible organization?" and "Who created this dataset?" are questions that can help you determine if a data source is cited.

☐ Is the data relevant to the problem I'm trying to solve?

☐ Has this dataset been properly cleaned?

☒ Is this dataset from a credible organization?

✓ Richtig

"Is this dataset from a credible organization?" and "Who created this dataset?" are questions that can help you determine if a data source is cited.

3. Which of the following are qualities of a bad data source? Select all that apply.

1 / 1 Punkten

☒ The data source solely relies on third-party information

✓ Richtig

A bad data source is not cited or vetted, is out of date or irrelevant, or solely relies on third-party information.

☒ The data source is not cited or vetted

✓ Richtig

A bad data source is not cited or vetted, is out of date or irrelevant, or solely relies on third-party information.

☒ The data source is out of date and irrelevant

✓ Richtig

A bad data source is not cited or vetted, is out of date or irrelevant, or solely relies on third-party information.

☐ The data source is not missing any important information

4. A data analyst is analyzing sales data for the newest version of a product. They use third-party data about an older version of the product. For what reasons is this inappropriate for their analysis? Select all that apply.

1 / 1 Punkten

☒ The data is not original

✓ Richtig

Third-party data about an older version of the product is inappropriate because it is not original or current.

☐ The data is not accurate

☒ The data is not current

✓ Richtig

Third-party data about an older version of the product is inappropriate because it is not original or current.

☐ The data is biased